Echo of Campaign in Great Britain

THEY TOLD OF AN ATTACK

On Chancellor of Exchequer—The London Daily Mail Was the Victim—Two Men Have Been Held for Trial on the Charge.

London, Feb. 3.—An echo of the recent political campaign was heard yesterday, when Frederick Horner, former member of the House of Commons, and newspaper man named Lambeth were committed for trial in the Old Bailey court on the charge of having forged telegrams sent to The Daily Mail. The telegrams were dispatched from Lambeth and were signed with the name of The Mail's regular correspondent at that place. They related a sensational story of an alleged hostile demonstration against David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer. The latter publicly disavowed the accuracy of the report, and inquiry is alleged to have established that the story had been sent by Horner, who previously had instituted an unsuccessful libel suit against The Mail. The case was brought first before the lord mayor at Mansion House, but prosecution suggested that Horner had been actuated by vindictiveness. Pending a trial, Horner was released under bail of $2,500.

NOT TO STOP FUND FOR IRELAND

Rumored Intention of O'Brien Against Redmondites Is Denied.

It has been rumored that William O'Brien, in pursuance of the anti-Redmond campaign, which resulted in the election to Parliament of a dozen Independent Nationalists, intended to visit the United States for the purpose of stopping the flow of funds to the Redmondites. This rumor is officially denied. The trustees of the Irish party have made public a list of the contributions from the United States, which amount to nearly $55,000 since T. P. O'Connor's visit.

CANNON FLAYS YELLOW PRESS.

To Such Newspapers He Charges Murders of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. Washington, Feb. 3.—Sensational newspapers were under the fire of Speaker Cannon's invective Tuesday night, when he addressed the House on the twenty-eighth anniversary of the death of Lincoln. He charged the "yellow" press with the murders of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, claiming that the newspapers had been inflamed by the publications.

Reverting to war times and the attitude of the newspapers, the speaker said:

"I remember that great editor, Horace Greeley, and his New York Tribune. I remember his famous slogan, 'On to Richmond.' The metropolitan journals literally took command after the Civil war opened. They commanded Lincoln to prosecute the campaign, and yet, after that first defeat inflicted on the Union forces, how the music changed. One of the New York newspapers demanded the immediate abdication of the president, and even the faithful Greeley thought peace should be made with the Confederates, and that every point at issue should be conceded to them."

Parisians Striving to Bring Order Out of Chaos—Americans Come Generously to Assistance of Sufferers.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The flood situation continues to improve rapidly. Except in the Javel quarter, the Twelfth Arrondissement and a few isolated spots on the left bank of the river Seine, the waters have almost wholly receded from the streets of Paris. The retreating waters have exposed to view yawning gaps in the pavements, while stranded boats and bits of wreckage here and there indicate how far the river wandered from its normal course.

The work of disinfection and the restoring of the transportation system is proceeding energetically, but the progress is necessarily slow. It will be many days and probably weeks before the telegraph and telephone systems, the surface railways and the railroad lines are again on a normal basis.

John Burns, president of the British local government board, who came from England to examine the situation here, paid a remarkable tribute to the prodigious performance by the relief organization. He said yesterday that he had been particularly impressed by the splendid courage displayed by the poorer classes in the inundated districts.

The plain below Paris, as far as St. Germaine-en-Laye, is still under several feet of water.

Later in the day it was learned that Rodman Wamaker had offered through American Ambassador Bacon to pay for a loaf of bread for every food victim in Paris and vicinity daily for a period of 30 days. The American subscriptions received over night included $5,000 from Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh. The grand total of American subscriptions now exceeds $100,000, the largest sum contributed by any foreign country. The relief work is now concentrated in the hands of the public charities department and the French Red Cross society.

Ambassador Bacon, who has visited many of the hospitals, soup kitchens and temporary places of refuge, appears enthusiastic over the effectiveness of the relief organizations.

The Red Cross has more than 300 privately owned automobiles at its disposal and 83 relief depots established in Paris and the suburbs. It is estimated that the public charities department and the Red Cross are distributing daily more than 100,000 loaves of bread in the city and vicinity.

At Pont Royal yesterday afternoon the Seine showed a depth of 30 feet, four inches. This is a fall of about 10 inches in the preceding 24 hours.

There was a slight fall of snow yesterday afternoon. Because of the danger in the further clogging of the sewers, the authorities have issued notices prohibiting the throwing of contents on the occasion of the Mardi Gras next Tuesday.

STUDY OF THE WHOLE TARIFF.

Complete Investigation Is Proposed by President Taft.

Washington, Feb. 3.—An exhaustive study of the whole subject of the tariff is planned by the president. He has directed the tariff board authorized under the recent tariff act to prepare for such an inquiry. In order to defray the expenses of the work, the president will ask an appropriation of $75,000 from Congress. Such an investigation of the subject was recently made by the German government in 1907.

MEAT PRICES GO HIGHER

No Increase in Consumption Reported

THE GRAND JURY TAKES UP

Cold Storage Problem—New York Club Women Aid in the Fight—The House Food Inquiry Is to Be Along the Broadest of Lines.

New York, Feb. 3.—The New Jersey side of the Hudson was yesterday's center of activity in this vicinity in the attempt to find out why food prices are high. The investigating body was the Hudson county grand jury, which continued its probing into the cold storage business of the big packing companies and other concerns which maintain extensive warehouses in Jersey City. It examined numerous witnesses in an effort to learn what quantities of food-stuffs are stored in the various plants and whether there is any understanding among the firms to hold necessities of life to regulate the supply and get the highest possible prices.

Cold storage seems to be the matter upon which the investigation of the high cost of living is being focused by probes in metropolitan territory generally. Action along the line followed in New Jersey is expected on the part of the New York authorities, and it is announced that the women's organizations here, with the co-operation of the health protective societies, will take up the campaign against ancient meats and other edibles stored for long periods.

If it is found that the grand jury can not return indictments against the companies for conspiracy in maintaining high prices, the prosecutor proposes to turn over to the federal authorities the evidence adduced before the grand jury for use in prosecuting the concerns under the Sherman anti-trust law. Mr. Garvan will have a conference with Supreme Court Justice Swayne, and if the justice decides that indictments may be found, it is probable that he will deliver a special charge to the grand jury on Friday afternoon. The witnesses examined Tuesday were James Brady, superintendent of Swift & Co's storage plant at Ninth and Provost streets, Jersey City; John Manchie, auditor for Swift & Co., and D. E. McCarthy, superintendent of the Union Terminal Cold Storage company's plant at Twelfth and Provost streets, Jersey City.

The prosecutor asked each witness if there were 100,000 crates, each containing thirty dozen eggs, in his storage plant. He had been informed that these 30,000,000 eggs and 100,000 pounds of poultry were placed in a cold storage plant in Hudson county last March and April and are still there. The witnesses, it is said, replied that they knew nothing of the existence of the eggs or poultry.

Meat prices are again on the upward trend. A third of a cent is the average advance in wholesale rates, and a full cent added to present prices is predicted before the week-end. Retailers report no increase in consumption and the no-meat eaters are estimated at upwards of 100,000 in Manhattan alone. Shipments, however, are much less free, the wholesalers say, and supplies are dwindling in the face of the reduced demand.

TO DISSOLVE BEEF TRUST?

Avoid Harsh Drugs

Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels.

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief, and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called Rosal Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is colorless, tasteless and colorless. Combined with other well-known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet, which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not grip, purge, nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person.

They come in two size packages, 12 tablets, 10c, 36 tablets 25c. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store, The Rosal Store, The Red Cross Pharmacy, 307 H. Wells, proprietor.

filed by United States District Attorney Edwin W. Sims within a few days, as a result of disclosures made before the federal grand jury investigating the alleged beef trust. Oliver E. Pagan, government indictment expert and special assistant to United States Attorney General Wickham, did not return to Washington, as he announced he would, but has decided to remain in Chicago for at least a month, to advise Mr. Sims.

"Mr. Pagan appeared at the federal building Tuesday morning, and after a conference with District Attorney Sims went to the office of the district court clerk, where he looked over the files of former government suits. This, coupled with an intimation by a high government official in Chicago, lends color to the reports about the federal building that the suit will be filed possibly this week. It is said that the preliminary draft of papers for a dissolution suit has already been drawn by Mr. Pagan, and that it will require less than a week to get the final petition into shape."

Springfield, O., Feb. 3.—Farmers of southwestern Ohio have taken a hand in the anti-meat crusade. Several agricultural societies are said to be backing the movement informally, and it is spreading.

SOLD TWO HOGS; OUT $2.85.

Butcher Bought Wholesale and Charged Retail for Hams.

Salem, N. J., Feb. 3.—A farmer brought two hogs to a local butcher and offered them for sale. A price was quickly agreed on, and the farmer said he would sell, but wanted the hams and shoulders. The butcher was willing, and after the weight had been taken the desired parts of the hogs were cut off and handed to the farmer, who asked for the balance coming to him. After figuring a moment, the butcher replied, "You owe me $2.85." And the farmer had to pay it.

The butcher had bought the hogs at wholesale price and charged the farmer retail prices for the parts he reserved.

ROME IS PLEASED.

Welcome for Mayor Who Captured Niobe.

Rome, Feb. 3.—Signor Nathan, the mayor of Rome, who was handled roughly in Milan when he attempted to seize the much-discussed statue of Niobe, which the courts had ordered placed in his possession, and who burst in the doors of the room in the Stora palace, where it was kept, Tuesday and seized the statue, returned here yesterday and was greeted by an applauding crowd. The mayor did not remove the statue but formally seized it and allowed it to remain in Milan pending a settlement of the dispute by the courts.

Mayor Nathan was escorted by a great crowd from the station to his home, where from the window he made a speech in which he thanked the people for their sympathy and appreciation. He went on to praise the Romans for their interest in the question of art, and this provoked renewed cheering.

POLICIES MAY PASS

Leaders in Congress Have Reached Agreement

HELP IS PROMISED TAFT

Both by Regulars and Insurgents—Some Doubt About Good Faith of the Former—Situation as to Legislation Still Delicate.

Washington, Feb. 3.—On the face of things, President Taft's legislative program stands a fair chance of being enacted into law at this session of Congress. The leaders have not yet decided upon all the bills they will attempt to carry through, nor can it be said definitely that any program they might make up could be carried out without some modification. Generally speaking, however, tentative agreement has been reached on the following list:

- (1) Three or four amendments to the interstate commerce law.
- (2) A law which will make it easier to conserve the natural resources of the country.
- (3) An act establishing postal savings banks.
- (4) Admission of the territories of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood.
- (5) Creating a new form of government for the territory of Alaska.
- (6) An act making some changes in the existing anti-injunction law.

Some of the more influential senators and representatives suggested yesterday that this list of possibilities might safely be cut in two. It is by no means certain that the postal savings bank bill can get through, although President Taft is insisting that it shall not be side-tracked. The House undoubtedly will pass the anti-injunction legislation the president suggested, but the administration has received no assurance up to this time that the legislation can be put through the Senate. The president has at last succeeded in obtaining promises from both the insurgents and the regulars that they will from this time on use their best endeavors to pull his legislative program out of the fire. Whether either side is proceeding in entire good faith remains to be seen. The situation in general is such that the slightest misstep by either side would probably overturn the entire peace structure.

It is the understanding that the insurgents in the House will abandon their efforts to obtain a modification of the rules, and to bring about a reconstruction of the committee on rules, until the president's legislative program is out of the way. Not all of the insurgents are in sympathy with this plan to suspend hostilities against the rules, but, apparently, the insurgents will make an honest attempt to live up to their agreement. They feel that they are in position to claim credit for bringing about a condition of affairs which seemingly makes it possible for the president to get some of the legislation he is demanding. Yesterday's tentative agreement as to what shall be put through is the outcome of the conference the leaders of the insurgents had with the president Tuesday afternoon. The insurgents having assured the president that they were ready to go out and make a fight for the major part of his program, the regulars were practically forced to show their hand. It is true that many competent observers are still of the belief that the elder senators and representatives have no thought of letting very much of the president's program go through; but on the face of things it would seem that with the country demanding legislation and with the insurgents backing up the president, the regulars cannot well afford to hold back any longer.

It is an interesting fact that on the very day the two factions of the party are showing a disposition to get together long enough to enact a little legislation, the American Protective Tariff league should send to every member of Congress a circular letter demanding that in the congressional elections this year all "enemies of protection" shall be defeated. It is well understood that this movement on the part of the league is directed at those Republicans in the Senate and House who refused to support the Payne-Aldrich bill. The resolution as adopted by the tariff league recites that the tariff law of 1909 fully and fairly complies with the pledge of tariff revision made by the Republican party, and asserts that "in consequence of the readjustment of the schedules on protection lines, generally speaking, confidence has been restored, all branches of business have resumed their normal activity, labor is well employed, and a renewal of prosperity has been brought about."

SOMETHING FOR HEADACHE

Nothing else, aside from money, is so universally sought for as a cure for headache. Headache powders are not safe and they give only temporary relief in any event. The chocolate-coated and capsule-shaped pills called Sherman's Headache Remedy and sold by druggists and dealers at 10c and 25c are recommended as the best headache cure.

tional changes in the tariff schedules, until the workings of the present law shall have been fully demonstrated, is to be deprecated and in all ways discouraged." Then it is resolved "that it is especially desirable to bring about the defeat at nominating conventions and in congressional elections of the current year of all enemies of protection and all promoters of tariff disturbance and uncertainty."

Coincident with this demand from the Protective Tariff league comes an announcement from the White House that the president is planning an exhaustive investigation of the whole subject of the tariff by the tariff board, and with that end in view will ask for a special appropriation of $75,000. It is the intention of the president to call to the aid of the tariff board after March 31 additional expert help. He is planning to have the board make a careful investigation as to the relative cost of production at home and abroad.

A MYSTERIOUS WRECK.

Schooner Sunk Near Sandy Hook Bar on a Clear Night.

New York, Feb. 3.—The three masted schooner, J. Henry Edmunds of Boothbay, Me., was mysteriously wrecked on Sandy Hook bar yesterday. Shore observers yesterday morning reported the wreck, revealed by the sight of three masts more than two thirds submerged, projecting from the water over the bar. How the vessel came to settle in her deep berth or whether her crew went down with her or were taken off by a passing vessel has not been ascertained.

Like Finding Money

D. F. Davis, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money, for he is selling a regular 30c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount, he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is only recently, through the solicitation of Dr. F. Davis, that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. He urged the proprietors to allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity. For Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, D. F. Davis will return your money.
